The pursuit of happiness
A new book examines why China is gloomier than its economic success would predict

The Economist – Chaguan
February 16th 2019

Chinese Discourses on Happiness is a timely new collection of essays edited by two sinologists based in Britain, Gerda Wielander and Derek Hird. It explores how China's propaganda machine devotes extraordinary efforts to promoting the idea that the Chinese people enjoy good and meaningful lives under Communism—precisely because economic growth alone does a poor job of generating happiness. . . .

Interview with Christine Loh on Underground Front: The Chinese Communist Party in Hong Kong, Second Edition

New Books Network, Interview by Ed Pulford

There can be little doubt that Hong Kong has stood out as a particularly intense East Asian news hotpot in recent years. Whether reports have focused on pro-democracy protests, abducted booksellers or PRC Mainland integration plans, most of this news has revolved around a common theme—namely questions over Beijing's ruling Chinese Communist Party and its influence in Hong Kong.

On this background, Christine Loh's book is an indispensable guide to the Party's approaches to Hong Kong over time
