Victor Y. H. Yu

Professor Victor Yu graduated from medical school at Hong Kong University in 1968. He did his postgraduate neonatal training at the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford, England, in 1972, and at the McMaster University Medical Center in Hamilton, Canada, in 1975. In 1977, he went to Australia as Director of Neonatal Intensive Care at Monash Medical Centre in Melbourne. Currently, he is also Professor of Neonatology at Monash University. Professor Yu is a Fellow of the Royal Colleges of Physicians of London, Edinburgh and Glasgow, and the Royal Australasian College of Physicians. His neonatal research had earned him a MSc and MD degree by thesis. He has published five books (three others in press), 92 chapters, 201 papers and 266 abstracts. He has been supervisor for postgraduate neonatal training to 95 paediatricians from 30 countries, other than those from Australia. His professional activities included being Chairman of the Perinatal Medicine Committee, Australian College of Paediatrics; visiting professor at the Chinese University of Hong Kong, National Taiwan University in Taipei, Jinan University in China; consultant to the Singapore and Hong Kong Governments and the World Health Organisation, Council Member of the World Association of Perinatal Medicine; Secretary-General of the Federation of Asia-Oceania Perinatal Societies; and President of the Australian Perinatal Society.

Ze-kang Feng
(Jack-Hong Fung)

Professor Ze-Kang Feng graduated from Hunan Medical College (formerly Yale in Hunan Medical College), China in 1958. He did his Neonatology Fellowship training in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, Canada under the supervision of Professor Paul Swyer in the period between July 1981 and September 1982. He was an Associate Professor, then Professor (since 1991) and Chairman (1986–92) of the Department of Pediatrics of Jinan University Medical College, Guangzhan, China. He was also the Director (1989–93) of New Born Services at the Affiliated Hospital of Jinan. Since 1994, he has been Professor and Head of the Department of Pediatrics, Kiang Wu Hospital in Macau, which is the teaching hospital of Jinan University Medical College and Sun Yet Sen University of Medical Sciences in Guangzhou. As chief editor or co-editor, he has published four books (including one in press), ten chapters in another three books, and over 30 papers. He has been the supervisor for postgraduate master training to seven pediatricians in China. He is Chairman of Provincial Perinatal Medicine Society in Guangdong province, and board member or council member of 15 other national or provincial pediatric, neonatal, perinatal or medical committees or societies. He is also editorial board member or associate-chief of editorial board of nine national pediatric or perinatal medical journals.

Reginald C. Tsang

Dr Reginald Tsang is David G. & Priscilla R. Gamble Professor of Neonatology and Professor of Pediatrics, Obstetrics & Gynecology of the University of Cincinnati. He is the Executive Director of the Perinatal Research Institute, Associate Chairman for Research and University Affairs, and until recently he was Director of the Division of Neonatology, one of the largest divisions of neonatology in the USA. Dr Tsang is the past president of the American College of Nutrition. He has received Nutrition Awards from the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American College of Nutrition and the March of Dimes. Dr Tsang is Associate Editor of the Journal of Pediatrics, and he is a reviewer for numerous journals in nutrition, pediatrics, metabolism endocrinology, and developmental biology. He has been invited to speak in 30 states of the USA and 25 foreign countries on subjects of nutrition, diabetes, calcium and vitamin D metabolism. Dr Tsang has authored or co-authored over 340 scientific papers and book chapters.

Chap-Yung Yeung

Professor Chap-Yung Yeung is a graduate of the University of Hong Kong. He was trained in neonatal medicine at the Hammersmith Hospital, London (1967-68) and at McMaster University, Canada (1972) and was the Associate Director of the Neonatal Unit of McMaster University (1974-76). Since late 1980, he has been the Professor and Head of the Department of Paediatrics of the University of Hong Kong. He has organised the development of the first neonatal and paediatric intensive care programme in Hong Kong; he had also developed several other sub-specialty programmes such as neonatal laboratory services, cardiology and neuro-developmental service within the network hospitals of his department. He has published over 160 papers, several chapters in books, a clinical atlas of Chinese infants, and 110 abstracts. He has lectured in neighbouring and other overseas countries and has been visiting professor to universities in China and overseas including Australia, Canada, Malaysia, New Zealand, Singapore, Sri Lanka and the USA. He has been elected Fellowships to the Royal Colleges of Physicians of Australia, Canada, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Ireland and London. He was also awarded Honorary membership of the American Pediatric Society.
