

Contents

Foreword by Peter Cheng	viii
Foreword by Mak Chai-kwong	ix
Preface	x
1. Trends and Overview in Construction Contract Procurement Oscar Tan	1
2. Guides for Interpretation of Construction Contract Catherine Mun	21
3. Contents and Terms in Practice Thomas Lee	46
4. Breach of Contract and Measurement of Damage Matthew Cheung	61
5. Perspective on Assessing Claims and Quantifying Time Duncan Ho	90
6. Non-payment, Repudiation, and Termination Monica Chan	107
7. Mistakes and Misrepresentation Moses W. Park	123
8. An Overview on Construction Alternative Dispute Resolution Honic H. K. Ip, Harrison Cheung, Oscar Tan, and Vincent Li	142
List of Contributors	167
Index	169

Contributors

Gary Soo is a practising barrister and chartered engineer. He has been practising in areas of civil litigation involving commercial and construction disputes and arbitration for some 20 years. From 2008 to 2010, he took up the position to serve as the secretary-general of the Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre. He was also the president of the Hong Kong Institute of Arbitrators, from 2006 to 2008 and from 2010 to 2011.

Oscar Tan is a practising barrister and an accredited general mediator. He has a general civil and criminal litigation practice with focus on commercial, contract, and family (matrimonial and probate) disputes, as well as construction arbitration. He has conducted mediation in areas including building management, contract, company and commercial matters (including shareholders' disputes), personal injury, investment-relation disputes, tenancy, and property disputes.

Catherine Mun is a solicitor specializing in commercial and construction-related arbitration and litigation. She was admitted as a solicitor in Hong Kong in 1998 and a solicitor in England and Wales in 2000. Ms. Mun has been involved in more than 40 domestic, international, CIETAC and ICSID arbitrations, and pre-arbitration dispute advisory work.

Thomas Lee has been a barrister in private practice in Hong Kong since 2000. He was formerly a solicitor and partner in an international law firm in Hong Kong. His practice as a barrister includes construction and commercial litigation, arbitration, adjudication and mediation; restructuring/insolvency and companies work; public/environmental law; and professional negligence and insurance.

Matthew Cheung is a practising barrister in Hong Kong. He has a general civil and criminal litigation practice with focus on land, contract, trust, and construction arbitration. Before joining the legal profession, he is the holder of Bachelor of Building Engineering. He was called to the Bar in Hong Kong in 2015.

Duncan Ho is a practising barrister and has a broad criminal and civil practice. He has a master's degree in arbitration and dispute resolution and an undergraduate degree in civil engineering. Before entering the legal profession, he had both design and site experience at a structural engineering consultants' firm. He is also an accredited mediator, a member of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, and an associate of the Hong Kong Institute of Arbitrators.

Monica Chan holds a bachelor's degree in accountancy from the Hong Kong Polytechnic University, a juris doctor and postgraduate certificate in laws from City University of Hong Kong, a master of laws in arbitration and dispute resolution from the University of Hong Kong, and a juris master in Chinese law from Tsinghua University. She was called to the Bar in 2015 and is currently a fellow member of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (UK).

Moses W. Park is a practising barrister, whose practice is focused on cross-border commercial litigation (including arbitration-related disputes). His practice also covers a broad spectrum of commercial work with an emphasis on commercial fraud; asset-tracing/recovery; company, securities, and investment products; as well as construction and property litigation. One of his specialties is in multi-jurisdictional disputes involving Korean parties and matters with a cross-border element. His work extends to regulatory fields (providing advice on matters governed by securities and immigration legislation) often involving a mix of private and public law elements.

Honic H. K. Ip is a practising barrister-at-law and a chartered marketer. He holds degrees in law, business administration, psychology, language and law, construction law, and dispute resolution. He has also acquired professional qualifications in arbitration, mediation, psychology, and logistics and transport. Mr. Ip is now adopting a mixed practice in criminal, civil, and public laws. In addition to legal practice, he is also an adjunct assistant professor at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University, a lecturer (non-clinical) at the University of Hong Kong, and an offshore casual lecturer at the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology (RMIT) University in Australia.

Harrison Cheung is a practising barrister and a Hong Kong registered professional engineer (civil), a dispute resolution advisor, an accredited mediator and adjudicator, and is on the list of arbitrator of the Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre. He holds academic qualifications in the disciplines of civil engineering (Imperial College, UK), engineering geology (University of New South Wales), arbitration and dispute resolution (City University of Hong Kong), practical accounting (Monash University), business administration (Hong Kong Polytechnic University), and law (City University of Hong Kong).

Vincent Li is a practising barrister, arbitrator, and accredited mediator. He is also a UK chartered engineer and a Hong Kong registered professional engineer. He holds academic qualifications in engineering (BSc.(Eng), University of Hong Kong), business administration (MBA, Chinese University of Hong Kong), and law (LLM, City University of Hong Kong).